

STEM LEARNING ECOSYSTEMS Navigating Policy

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 2019

WELCOME

James Brown

Executive Director,
STEM Education
Coalition

Patti Curtis

Robert Noyce/Ellen Lettvin
STEM Education Fellow,
U.S. Department of Education

- Why should ecosystems be concerned about policy on local, state and national levels? What can ecosystems gain from policy advancement? We'd love for you to be able to share some actual examples?
- How can they begin? What are some critical first steps?
- What can ecosystem leaders expect to see from the STEM Education Coalition in the coming year?
- How can the ecosystems stay updated with the Department of Education resources?

ED Fellow STEM Resources

- STEM Progress Report
- STEM Briefings
- STEM Press Release
- Nine Ways Technology Can Boost STEM Learning
- www.ED.gov/STEM
- STEM Fellow Update
 - Patti.Curtis@ed.gov

Q & A

STEM ecosystems
Cultivate. Learn. Innovate.

